42 FEARED DEAD IN FRENCH PLANE CRASHES

Soviet Faces Avalanche of Relation Breaks

LATIN AMERICA HAS ENOUGH OF RED ACTIVITIES

Severance Of Brazil May Be Signal For Rush To Follow Lead

RIO DE JANEIRO, Oct. 18—Brazil's expected diplomatic break with Russia may precipitate an avalanche of similar moves elsewhere in Latin America.

Diplomatic observers expressed belief today that such a trend is imminent.

A spokesman for Brazil's foreign ministry admitted severance of relations with the Soviet Union is "possibly a matter of only hours."

Qualified observers predicted the next 72 hours would produce an official announcement of such a step.

It was seen as stemming directly from Brazilian indignation over insults by the Soviet government newspaper "Izvestia" aimed at President Eurico Gaspar Dutra.

The foreign ministry spokesman's statement followed an unofficial report that Russia rejected, without comment, the Brazilian protest regarding the Izvestia attack on President Dutra.

THE SOVIET press recently termed Dutra a "Hitler follower." It claimed Brazil is subservient to the United States.

This attack coincided with the Soviet blast which compared President Truman to Hitler, precipitating an official United States protest which the Russians flatly rejected.

Dispatches from Santiago revealed that a Chilean liberal party congressman plans to demand that Chile formally sever diplomatic relations with Russia.

The Chilean-Real Marine disclosed that he will make such a demand in Chile's legislature. Chile recently expelled two Yugoslav diplomats on charges of Communist intrigue in the Chilean coal strike which had lasted 13 days. Coal production finally reached normal yesterday.

DRY CANDIDATE FOR PRESIDENT TO VISIT OHIO

CLEVELAND, Oct. 18—Dr. Claude E. Watson of Los Angeles, Prohibition party candidate for president, will come to Cleveland next week to lead the opening of a campaign to restore the party to the Ohio presidential ballot.

Watson will be one of the principal speakers at the 75th convention of the Ohio Women's Christian Temperance Union, which opens Monday.

During their five-day session, the WCTU members plan to develop a program for revival of the prohibition party in Ohio and for adoption of a county option law by referendum.

Other speakers will include Rep. Joseph R. Bryson of South Carolina, dry leader of congress, and State Senator George Shurtz of Newcomerstown, his counterpart in the Ohio legislature.

VETERANS AND ARMED FORCES TO HONOR DEAD

COLUMBUS, O., Oct. 18—Representatives of 25 veterans' groups, armed forces units and civilian agencies united today to provide military services for World War II dead returned to central Ohio for burial.

The group established the "Franklin County Repatriation Center" to arrange for firing squads, buglers, chaplains and other military honors if requested by next of kin.

AT BOSTON'S Animal Rescue league, young Frankie MacLean hugs his pet Dalmatian, restored to him by Agent Lou Vouzzo (left) after lad appealed to newspapers for aid in finding his pal.

Critics Say Margaret Truman's Voice Not Of Great Soloist Calibre

PITTSBURGH, Oct. 18—Music critics today deprecated Miss Margaret Truman's chance of becoming a great soloist, after hearing her concert debut in Pittsburgh.

The daughter of the President with her mother and Secretary of the Treasury John W. Snyder and Mrs. Snyder in a box near the stage, made her first concert appearance before 3,400 in Pittsburgh.

U. S. ASSURED OF FIRM MAJORITY ON "ASSEMBLY"

LAKE SUCCESS, N. Y., Oct. 18—The United States seems assured in the United Nations today of solid majority approval for the proposed year-round "little assembly" and Korean independence.

Although both issues face continued bitter opposition by the Soviet bloc, there has been a marked swing among the non-Soviet delegations in favor of the permanent "watchdog" assembly.

Poland staged a surprise in again raising the Greek issue. Its delegation shoved a resolution into U. N. calling attention to American charge of "threats to the political independence and territorial integrity of Greece." It asked the general assembly to recommend that all foreign troops be immediately withdrawn.

The expected close of general debate in the Palestine committee this afternoon, when the Arab higher committee and former Jewish agency chairman Chaim Weizmann get their say, foreshadows a tortuous period of sessions on the actual question of partition and enforcement.

SEVEN KILLED AS MICHIGAN AUTOS COLLIDE

FLINT, Mich., Oct. 18—Michigan state police reported today that a two-car collision near Montrose, Mich., took the lives of seven persons, at least three of them Detroiters.

Police said the crash occurred about 18 miles northwest of Flint.

Four of the dead were identified as Bernard Robert Nicolai, Robert Van Peere and Maurice Patrick Connelly, all of Detroit, and George Keller, of Flushing, Mich. Another passenger in the car was injured.

State police said the identity of the dead in the other automobile was not immediately available.

MARSHALL PLAN FACING TEST IN FRENCH BALLOT

Vote Also To Show Effect Of Communist Activity Through Nation

WASHINGTON, Oct. 18—American officials today awaited results of the French municipal elections this weekend as they assessed last minute efforts to aid France's disintegrating economy.

The election returns, which will reveal the effect of Communist activity, are expected to show the early reaction of the French people to the Marshall plan for European reconstruction.

State department policy, which has concentrated for several weeks on the plight to France and Italy, recently has thrown its attention somewhat more to France.

Although officials have denied that the American policy is aimed at bolstering anti-Communist forces in France, observers believe that it would be impossible to disassociate the final election returns from United States action.

It is believed that other nations will necessarily assess the returns against the assistance they are pouring out to France.

The latest drastic step to assure France of the aid of the western democracies through a supply of essential dollars was (Continued on Page Two)

EMPLOYMENT IN STATE PASSES WAR TIME PEAK

COLUMBUS, O., Oct. 18—Employment in Ohio has passed the peak of World War II, with demand for labor increasing and the supply declining.

Frank J. Collopy, administrator of the bureau of unemployment compensation, disclosed the gains today in his September report.

He said that the state employment service filled 36,214 jobs in September, 38 per cent more than in August. At the same time available jobs rose to 68,880, a gain of 28 per cent, while the number of job-seekers followed a three-month trend to reach a post-war low of 95,000 on Oct. 1.

The BUC administrator reported that 40 per cent of the placements were in the manufacture of metals, metal products and machinery, wholesale and retail trade, agriculture and domestic services. Less than half the placement increase from August was in the canning field, although September is the normal peak employment month for that industry.

DELAWARE DAM 95 PER CENT DONE, ARMY SAYS

DELAWARE, O., Oct. 18—The seven and a half million dollar flood control dam on the Olen-tang river north of Delaware was said by Army engineers to be 95 per cent complete today.

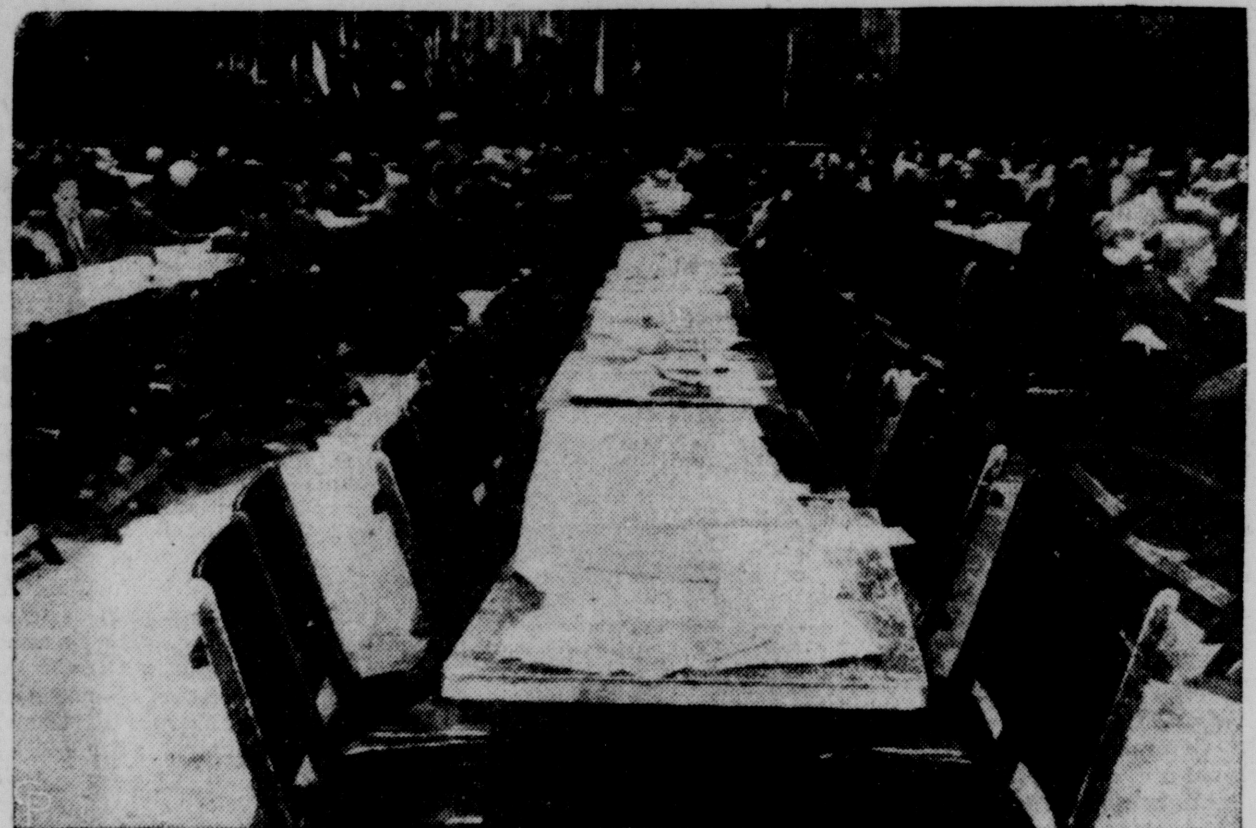

The engineers said that land and flood easements now are being acquired in the reservoir area and that contracts for building dykes near Waldo, between Delaware and Marion, would be let after bids are opened in January.

STRATO-FREIGHT LINER LONG OVERDUE IN SOUTH

CHARLOTTE, N. C., Oct. 18—The civilian aeronautics administration office at Charlotte reported today that a strato-freight lines DC-3 is two days overdue on a flight from Charlotte to Gainesville, Ga.

The CAA said the plane was due to land in Gainesville last Thursday. The pilot has not notified the CAA of his landing and has not been heard from at the Gainesville airport.

North Carolina state police organized a search for the missing plane. Two men, the pilot and co-pilot, were aboard.

FRANCE ACTS TO CONSERVE GAS

Autos And Taxicabs All To Be Suppressed Completely Over Sunday

PARIS, Oct. 18—Premier Paul Ramadier's socialist government took emergency measures to conserve gasoline supplies during the Parisian transportation tie-up after 25,000 subway workers voted today to continue the strike "until final victory."

The government announced that all "special means of transportation" in the Paris area—presumably automobiles, taxicabs, and similar conveyances—will be suppressed completely on Sunday.

Imposition of the ban coincides with balloting in municipal elections by the populace, disgruntled at walking, cycling or driving its own cars to work because of the strike by some 34,000 subway and bus line employees.

DESPITE settlement of the strike of 35,000 merchant seamen, who sought a 15 per cent wage rise, the people showed growing irritation at their social (Continued on Page Two)

POLICE SECOND BEST IN TILTS ON "ROWDY ROW"

CLEVELAND, Oct. 18—Police came out second best in three drunken melees on Cleveland's west side "Rowdy Row" early today.

Four police officers were treated for injuries at Lutheran hospital after they were beaten while trying to quell a near-riot at W. 41st st. and Lorain ave. The injured included Lt. Frank Perrell and patrolman Frank Daily. No arrests were made.

Lt. Perrell blamed Friday payday and the fact that most of the celebrants do no work Saturday.

CAPITAL UNIONS REMAIN QUIET ON MAYOR RACE

COLUMBUS, O., Oct. 18—The Columbus Federation of Labor today refused to back either of the two candidates for mayor in the coming November 4 election.

The candidates are Republican Mayor James A. Rhodes, seeking re-election, and Democrat W. Herbert Dailey.

Federation President Paul J. McCarthy said that "after careful consideration of both applications, the officers and legislative committee decided not to endorse either. Delegates then returned such a decision."

POOKA THROWS YONKERS INTO REAL DITHER

NEW YORK, Oct. 18—Millions of admirers of Frank Fay, Jimmy Stewart and Joe E. Brown think (erroneously) that the pooka is a six-foot rabbit named "Harvey."

The Irish, and other scholarly and informed persons, know better. They know that the pooka is a little one-horned horse addicted to great mischief.

Well, today there is a dead pooka in Yonkers.

Except that his horn had branches.

Yesterday Harvey—or whatever his name was—entered Brophy's bar and grill causing the gentleman playing the juke box to drive under a table.

Harvey speared a couple of bottles of Johnny Jamieson on his antlers and jumped through a plate glass window.

Several prominent Yonkers beer drinkers ordered double ryes and took a little whisky for a chaser.

Harvey next appeared in a Yonkers garage, where two mechanics hit the deck at the bottom of a grease pit.

Harvey, who didn't have a gentle drunkard like Elwood Dowd to keep him company, next visited Tommy Carroll's tavern.

The pinocle game in the corner ceased.

Several shuffleboard players dashed into the street in search of a place to sign the pledge.

Bartender John Moss conked Harvey with a baseball bat.

And the pooka—a deer which had swum from a reservation across the Hudson river in search of company—finally was dispatched with a policeman's bullet.

EVICITION SUIT PROMPTS VICTIM TO TAKE LIFE

DAYTON, O., Oct. 18—The threat of eviction and his inability to find another home for his wife and two children was blamed today for the suicide of Clifford Heater, 42.

Heater's wife reported that they had received a final eviction notice which compelled them to vacate their second-floor, three room apartment by today.

As he sat talking over his apparently hopeless situation, Mrs. Heater reported, he suddenly shot himself through the right temple with a German model automatic pistol.

The eviction suit, decided against them seven months ago in Dayton courts, ended a tenancy that had lasted ten years.

STORM JITTERS GRIP FLORIDA

Third Hurricane In Month Reported Roaring Out Of South Atlantic

BULLETIN MIAMI, Fla., Oct. 18—A tropical disturbance, moving northwestward, today reached hurricane proportions with winds up to 95 miles an hour.

MIAMI, Oct. 18—A new tropical storm was developing into hurricane proportions today as it roared out of the South Atlantic.

The Miami weather bureau located the storm about 70 miles east of Turks island, moving west-northwestward at about 13 miles an hour.

The bureau advisory said highest winds were reported from 60 to 70 miles an hour. Squalls extend outward 200 miles from the center.

Should the disturbance turn into a hurricane, it will be the third to smash the weather-beaten southeast area within the month.

Southern Florida developed an acute case of jitters as the storm gathered 800 miles east-southeast of Miami.

Newspapers and radio stations were deluged with calls from frantic citizens still groggy from two hurricanes and a flood which still covers more than 70,000 acres.

Feeling ran so high that fist-cuffs broke out in a flood shelter near Hialeah, Fla. A Hialeah city physician was reported to have struck one of the 92 flood refugees during a discussion of accommodations in the shelter last night. No charges were filed.

CHILDREN PLAY WITH MATCHES AND ONE DIES

COLUMBUS, O., Oct. 18—A seven-year-old Columbus boy was dead today because his companions disregarded the age-old admonition not to play with matches.

Little Henry Johnson, Jr., was turned into a fatal, flaming torch when a drum containing roofing compound caught fire and exploded.

His aunt, Mrs. Elizabeth Davis, 38, was burned severely when she attempted to beat out the flames.

WOMAN SKID VICTIM LONDON, O., Oct. 18—Mrs. Laura Wade, 55, of near Galloway was fatally injured early today when an automobile driven by her husband, Harry Wade, 57, skidded off a bridge 12 miles southeast of London. Wade was uninjured.

AIRLINER DIVES INTO SEA; TWO ESCAPE DEATH

Bodies Of Five Victims Are Found—Others Thought To Be Drowned

PARIS, Oct. 18—An air and sea search was intensified today for possible survivors of two French plane crashes in which five persons were known dead and 42 others missing and presumed drowned.

France Soir, in a dispatch from Algiers, said that of 44 persons believed to be aboard an airliner which crashed yesterday in the Mediterranean, only two have been found alive and the others are feared dead.

The bodies of five others were picked up by a French escort ship in a search of the Cape Palos area, near Cartagena, Spain.

A company spokesman said there is little hope that more survivors were picked up. He confirmed that the plane carried 39 passengers, and five crew members.

THREE CREW members of a French navy craft were reported killed, meantime, when their plane crashed in Agadir Bay, Morocco. A dispatch from Rabat said the victims were drowned.

The dispatches concerning the airliner crash were at variance with initial reports of the tragedy when a spokesman for the operating company—Transport Aeriens Intercontinentaux—said all occupants were understood to have been rescued by a passing steamer.

A COMPANY spokesman said this morning that although the plane had only 34 seats, it was possible that it carried more passengers because there were some children aboard. He emphasized, however, that the total load was normal.

The company declined to publish a passenger-list for the time being, but said no Americans were aboard.

TRUCKER ADMITS TORCH MURDER TRY ON CHILDREN

ELYRIA, O., Oct. 18—An Elyria truck driver, who admitted setting fire to his house after locking in two of his three children, was to be arraigned on a charge of arson today.

Police said Roger Reed, 37, signed a statement admitting that he set fire to the squalid one-room home late yesterday. They said that Reed at first said the fire was accidentally caused when he dropped a match on the floor after lighting a cigarette.

The children, Roger, Jr., 7, and Sarah, 6, were rescued by their mother, Julia, who returned to the home shortly after the fire began. When she found the doors locked, Mrs. Reed called to Roger to unlock the door and the children fled the blazing home.

Patrolman M. E. Olmsted found the father hiding in a field about 1,000 feet away shortly after the fire was extinguished. Olmsted said a broken bottle of kerosene was found on the floor of the shack.

Two other children of the couple accidentally died last year, one apparently from asphyxiation and the other from drinking kerosene.

CIO UNION BUYS CAN GOODS FOR MEMBERS

DAYTON, O., Oct. 18—The CIO United Electrical Workers union at the Dayton Delco plant undertook a new means of battling the high cost of living today.

Union officials announced a case-lot distribution of canned goods at cost to members only. The union, second largest local in Dayton, expects to distribute 2,000 cases weekly.

Said president E. J. Kraft: "We're not in the grocery business, but until prices come down, the savings to us will be the same as a wage increase."

Critics Say Margaret Truman's Voice Not Of Great Soloist Calibre

PITTSBURGH, Oct. 18—Music critics today deprecated Miss Margaret Truman's chance of becoming a great soloist, after hearing her concert debut in Pittsburgh.

The daughter of the President with her mother and Secretary of the Treasury John W. Snyder and Mrs. Snyder in a box near the stage, made her first concert appearance before 3,400 in Pittsburgh's Syria Mosque last night.

The critics were unanimous in asserting Miss Truman is not, and probably never will be, a great singer.

Said one critic in a Pittsburgh newspaper: "There is no use quibbling or modifying. The bold fact is that Miss Truman, judging by Friday evening's performance, and with the usual allowances for youth and debut, is not a great singer, and in fact, is not at this stage of her career, even a good singer."

"Miss Truman undoubtedly has a natural voice of some parts. It is childlike, however. It is clear and sweet, and usually in pitch, but nevertheless it has an immature quality that prevents the realization of complete tonal freedom."

Another critic said: "Her first two songs from Mozart's 'Marriage of Figaro' were parodies of that composer's meaning. I believe unintentionally so, for she seems instructed in this type."

ELYRIA, O., Oct. 18—An Elyria truck driver, who admitted setting fire to his house after locking in two of his three children, was to be arraigned on a charge of arson today.

Police said Roger Reed, 37, signed a statement admitting that he set fire to the squalid one-room home late yesterday. They said that Reed at first said the fire was accidentally caused when he dropped a match on the floor after lighting a cigaret.

The children, Roger, Jr., 7, and Sarah, 6, were rescued by their mother, Julia, who returned to the home shortly after the fire began. When she found the doors locked, Mrs. Reed called to Roger to unlock the door and the children fled the blazing home.

Patrolman M. E. Olmsted found the father hiding in a field about 1,000 feet away shortly after the fire was extinguished. Olmsted said a broken bottle of kerosene was found on the floor of the shack.

Two other children of the couple accidentally died last year, one apparently from asphyxiation and the other from drinking kerosene.

the apportionment of 144 million, 526 thousand, 550 dollars worth of Nazi gold loot to countries in need of currencies for imports.

THIS CAME from the three hundred million dollar pot of gold now held in Brussels under the jurisdiction of an Anglo-American - French commission. The vast majority of the gold was recovered by U. S. Army forces in salt mines at Merkers, Germany, in April, 1945.

Of the 144 million dollars apportioned to short-currency nations, France will receive 104 million, 150 thousand, 250 dollars as her share.

With the 93 million dollars made available by the export-import bank and the 50 million dollars authorized for goods and services supplied to U. S. liberation forces, France now has 247 million, 150 thousand dollars to help tide her over the present emergency.

This leaves France only 43 million dollars short of the 290 millions she estimates is necessary to supply essential food, fuel and fats until Dec. 31.

Earlier in the week, the state department announced that 31 German naval vessels, mostly suitable for commercial use, will be turned over to France to aid her civilian economy.

STATE TOURNEY ON HOLY WEEK POSES PROBLEM

COLUMBUS, O., Oct. 18 — The Ohio High School Athletic Association wrestled today with a sudden discovery that it had scheduled the annual state basketball tournament for Holy Week.

Commissioner H. W. Emswiler said a consensus of board of control members favored changing the dates of the schoolboy classic because of the obvious conflicts to be found in holding the event the last week in March as scheduled.

A change may not be as easy as it sounds, however. Says Emswiler:

"We don't want to make the state tournament a week earlier because it would necessitate changing dates of regionals and other preliminary tourneys. On the other hand, I'm not yet certain we can get the state fairgrounds coliseum the first week in April if we decide to postpone the tournament a week."

At its meeting, the board of control arranged to hold regional Class B baseball tournaments this Spring, cutting state tournament teams to four. The body also went on record with an endorsement of proposals by the girls' interscholastic athletic committee.

CORN HUSKERS TODAY'S STOOGE FOR NOTRE DAME

SOUTH BEND, Ind., Oct. 18 — The Fighting Irish of Notre Dame definitely had their dander up today as they strove to regain pre-eminent national football recognition.

To do so, they would have to slaughter Nebraska, today's stooqe, and 45,000 fans thought that was just about what would happen.

Physically in the finest shape they've known all year, the Notre Dammers stood prohibitive 35-point favorites to trounce the Cornhuskers, who outweighed Notre Dame in the line—as if that was going to make much difference.

Nebraska had a lucky triumph over Iowa State to show for its outing of last Saturday, but previously the 'Huskies collapsed before Minnesota and Indiana.

The Irish, meanwhile, had a 40-6 victory over Pitt and a 22-7 decision over Purdue in their two starts to date, but they didn't look like national champions while they were at it.

DOZEN TO START

ALBANY, Cal., Oct. 18 — Twelve horses were scheduled to run today in the Golden Gate Fields' $75,000 handicap, with Triplegate, Johnny Longden up, the favorite. Odds on Triplegate, once a winner of the $100,000 gold cup, were 7 to 2.

The Juniors are beginning their practices for the class play "Dotty and Daffy," slated will defray expenses of the Junior-Senior Banquet. The net returns of the magazine contest totaled over $51. Peggy and Ray Mitchell, Oakland, Windsor township, Morgan county, have entered the first grade.

Miss Marie Burkhead called
Sunday evening on Mrs. C. E.
Stein.

The Senior class is planning a skating party November 13 at the Laurelville Roller Rink.
Proceeds will go toward their trip next Spring. The salesman will be at school Wednesday October 22 at 9:00 a. m. to take orders for the Junior Class rings and Senior invitations. A new mimeograph has been purchased for the school by the board of education. To aid in defraying the expenses of the machine, the typing students and Mrs. Poling will publish a school newspaper with two or three editions this year. These will be sold to the public for 5 cents per copy.

St. Michael's

"A thing of beauty is a joy forever." And it seems as if Old St. Michael's church has been just that; not quite forever, but for several centuries. It is one of America's landmarks. Long may it stand as a bulwark against man's selfishness, against nations' wars.

Located in the Deep South, in South Carolina, it might symbolize any church. We like to think of it as God's church, a beacon light to free man of every creed who may find within its confines the path to immortality.

The clock on St. Michael's indicates the passing of time.
The clock we see will some day stop, never to run again.

St. Michael's itself, may some day crumble in ruin, unless it be preserved by remodeling and rebuilding as the ages wear on toward the perfect day.

In effect, all things worldly decay and die. Only the spirit of God's love, as exemplified by His churches, lives on.
That, and time. Some clock somewhere will pick up where the clock of St. Michael's some day stops ticking. Time will wear on. Each second is gone forever, a chance lost to find the Divine Way of life for those who have not yet sought it.

But in a spiritual sense, Old St. Michael's will live on forever. The influence of its teachings, as exemplified by all Christian churches will continue to make itself felt in the lives of its members. They go forth in an ever broadening army that others seeing them may be reminded of their Father who art in heaven."

INDIAN PROTESTANTS

METHODISTS, Episcopalians, Presbyterians, Congregationalists and Reformed church members of South India met in St. George's Cathedral in Madras recently to form the "first organic union" of Protestant churches in the world. A few stayed out, like the Baptists, the Lutherans, some American Methodists and a Syrian group.

But for the most part, for the first time in history, there was a common church for Protestants. Membership reached a million communicants. An American Presbyterian leader, Dr. Henry Sloane Coffin, dubbed it the "most significant event in ecclesiastical history since the Reformation."

In South India Protestants had accomplished that which the United States Federal Council of Churches has been struggling to start. The Council finds it difficult to set up a conference of its 25 American denominations that can lay the ground work for such unity.

One explanation for the success of Protestant union in South India is that in that country Christians are only a small minority of the religious whole. There can be no doubt, however, that the move for united action in far off India will make Protestant unity in the United States much nearer reality.

Certainly anything that brings men closer together in any good work whether secular or religious brings the One-World idea that much nearer realization.

NEW WALLACE PLAN

HENRY A. WALLACE is incurably optimistic. He has come out now with a plan whereby the United States and Russia can settle all their differences and arrive at complete harmony.

Mr. Wallace would have both countries exchange lists of the specific points of disagreement between them. After mutual study of such lists, Mr. Wallace is sure no point would remain that could not be settled peaceably, and cleared away.

It seems an excellent idea, except for one detail. Just when did the Politburo ever cooperate with any other nation on any matter? Many notes from many people on many subjects have been dispatched to Moscow, and few have been the replies. Has Mr. Wallace heard of the Russian habit of saying "No" to every constructive suggestion made at UN sessions? Would not another veto surely be forthcoming should America propose any plan for peaceful co-operation?

It's fine to have faith. Mr. Wallace has his points. But the ability to learn from experience has value, too, for an individual or for a nation.

Just a little while ago this silly old world seemed to be pretty well straightened out again, but just look at it now.

If you ask us, we prefer a swing in the old apple tree to a trip in a "supersonic carrier."

These Days

By George E. Sokolsky

John L. Lewis, better than any other man, knows the danger of Communist penetration in the trade unions of this country. When he formed the C.I.O., he was in need of a large number of skilled organizers, propagandists, writers, and similar smart boys. He found them among the Communists and Left Wingers. Although he had never permitted Communists to play any part in the United Mine Workers, he took on this crew to the detriment of American labor and the American people.

They surrounded him. They introduced the syndicalistic sitdown strike. They applied Bolshevik methods to labor union organization. They managed to take over about a dozen of the C.I.O. unions, some of which, like the U.E., they still absolutely control. The C.I.O. general headquarters became an organ of Communist propaganda and union funds were used for this purpose. Trade unionism, in the C.I.O., became strictly political. J. Raymond Walsh, chief apologist for the C.I.O., put it this way:

"... Essentially the New Deal and the C.I.O. are politico-economic twins, with a common heritage but different temperaments. The one had to come before the other could win its right to exist; both issued from the womb of an unhappy, unbalanced capitalist democracy."

Lewis found himself in unpleasant, unpleasant company. In particular, he was required to support a war which he believed would be disastrous for America and he was required to serve the political purposes of Franklin D. Roosevelt. By 1940, he had been reduced to the position of a hang-on to a political machine.

It was too much for Lewis. In the 1940 campaign he declared his personal independence. The skirts were put under him and out he went. The Communists, who are a minority in the C.I.O., took over. Lewis has seen his successor, Phil Murray, a man of religious scruples and personal integrity, become a prisoner of this Communist machine. All the apologists for Murray cannot explain away the activities of Lee Pressman, DeCaux, Emspak, Quill, Bridges and others. The C.I.O. did not limit itself to the field of American trade unionism; it became a supporter of Russian policy in the international field and actually joined the World Federation of Trade Unions, an organ of international trade communism that the A. F. of L. rejected.

John L. Lewis knows all this. Of course, he also knows that it ought to be unnecessary for an American to take an oath of loyalty, that every American is presumed to be loyal until proved disloyal. He is right, in principle, when he objects to taking an oath asserting that he is not a Communist. No one even suspects him of being a Communist.

But he ought also to know from his experience that these creatures creep into everything, that they change their names, disguise their affiliations, deny what is true and assert what is false in conformity to Lenin's dictum that to lie for the Cause is a virtue.

Delegates to the UN were guests at the opening game of the world's series. Brief rules were distributed in Russian, Spanish and other languages. Wonder if the Russian spectators expected the police to liquidate any player who argued with the umpire?

DIET AND HEALTH

An Enlarged Thyroid Gland

By HERMAN N. BUNDESEN, M.D.

GOITER simply means enlargement of the thyroid gland, but, since there are many different causes for this enlargement, the name covers a number of conditions, some of them much less serious than others.

Perhaps the one which causes the greatest concern is the toxic goiter or hyperthyroidism. If not properly treated, it may lead to severe damage to the tissues.

Loss of Weight

In this disorder, there is loss of weight and strength, rapid heart beat, sweating, sometimes diarrhea, and usually irritability and nervousness. The eyeballs may protrude, and the thyroid gland may or may not appear enlarged.

The exact cause of toxic goiter is not known. As a rule, it is not a difficult condition to diagnose. The symptoms are quite characteristic.

Basal Metabolism

A test known as the basal metabolism test, which measures the speed with which the activities of the body go on, is helpful in making the diagnosis. In toxic goiter, the basal metabolism rate is increased.

By and large, the most successful treatment of toxic goiter is operative removal of the thyroid gland tissues. However, many milder cases may be relieved with complete rest and the giving of iodine in the proper doses.

A New Drug

A new drug known as thiouracil has been used which also brings about temporary improvement. It is not harmful in any way.

is often used with benefit for several weeks prior to operation, as such use reduces the hazards of such operation.

Recently also what is known as radioactive iodine has been used in treating toxic goiter, apparently with success in some cases.

Giving Iodine

Once it has been decided that operation is necessary to relieve the disorder, the patient must be properly prepared. This is done by the giving of iodine, rest, the use of quieting drugs for the nervous system, and the employment of a well-balanced diet, particularly rich in starches and sugars, and in protein foods such as meat, milk and eggs.

All of the gland secretion necessary to keep the tissues normal. If not, thyroid extract may be administered in proper doses.

In carrying out the operation, an attempt is made to remove all the thyroid gland tissues. Usually enough is left behind, even though such attempts are made, to supply all of the gland secretion necessary to keep the tissues normal. If not, thyroid extract may be administered in proper doses.

SYNOPSIS

Allison Van Dyke comes to Washington to live with Teresa, her ambitious, dominating half-sister, following the death of their mother, Kitty, in Vermont. Four years before Teresa, a highly successful interior decorator, had married Sam Tarrant, quiet, idealistic newspaperman, but the marriage had ended in divorce the following year shortly after the birth of their daughter Suzy. Allison, who was in at the time of the wedding, knew the instant she met Sam that he was the only man she would ever love. Teresa was not at home when Allison arrived, but to her great joy, Sam was there enjoying his weekly visit with his small daughter. He explained that since his discharge from the army he has been operating the newspaper and farm in nearby Virginia which his late father left him. He confided his worry over Suzy, a shy, nervous child who became so upset when introduced to Allison, her nurse, Miss Winstead, and Sam's sister, Miss Winstead, was forced to take her from the room. Teresa came in shortly after Sam's departure.

CHAPTER EIGHT

Sitting opposite Allison Teresa said, "I'm sorry to keep you waiting, darling, but I always spend 20 minutes with Suzy each evening and I have 10 to freshen up. Then, even if no one else is here, Annette always brings me a cocktail."

Life by the clock, Allison thought, as she took the glass from her sister. Didn't the program ever vary? She and her mother had been constantly changing their routine because Kitty had thought life very dull if you didn't. She remembered her mother once saying, "Some mornings I make the beds first and clean upstairs. On other mornings I wash the breakfast dishes and clean downstairs. Heaven forbid that I should do the same things the same way every morning and get into a rut."

Allison said, "The house is lovely. Teresa, Annette put my bag in the last room down the hall. I supposed you meant that one for me."

"Didn't she unpack for you?" "Why, no."

"Servants aren't very well trained these days, but I'm lucky to have one at all. Of course Winnie will never leave me as long as I need her."

Over the rim of the glass she asked, "How much did you get for the old house and how much have you left?"

Taken aback by the abruptness of the question Allison said after a little hesitation, "I sold it for five thousand. I couldn't hold out for six as you told me to. Mother owed about a thousand dollars."

"She owed a thousand dollars! That much?" "Well, yes. She had to have some repairs done to the house."

It was in dreadful condition. It was so old and leaked so badly we had to move around when it rained so we wouldn't be rained on. Then there were a lot of bills that added up."

"A good many you didn't know about, I grant." She took a cigarette and lit it and blew the smoke ceilingward.

"I think she knew she was going to die a year ago and she knew when everything was sold there'd be enough to pay the bills. So she just put them all in the desk for the last year and didn't pay any of them. Then there were the—"

the funeral expenses and some of my bills at school."

"The auction of the furniture brought something."

"Two hundred and six dollars. I have it all written down. Naturally half of what is left is yours."

Fair though it was, she had hoped that Teresa, who had so much, would be generous and not accept it. Not that she wanted to spend it. It was simply that she would like the money for security in case of illness or unemployment.

Teresa poured herself another cocktail. "I won't accept it for myself. I'll put it in Suzy's education account. I have a separate account for that. And was there nothing left of your father's insurance that you and mother have been living on for the past 11 years?"

"That was gone a year ago. It was only ten thousand dollars. We lived on it for ten years. So since last year we've owed everybody."

Teresa looked at her compassionately. "I know this is not at all a pleasant subject for you. But we must, after all, be practical. I think you've handled everything exceedingly well. Mother was so—so impractical, to say the least. Did she suffer much?"

"She suffered horribly—at the end."

"If she had taken care of herself and eaten properly and had taken exercise she'd have lived for years."

"You can't live for years with cancer."

Teresa nodded. "I know you've been through a very bad time, dear. Did she bleach her hair to the last?"

Allison's eyes deepened with hurt. Her own chin sharpened when she said, "I did it for her last time. She said she wanted it to be pretty when she was dead. It—it was."

Teresa's eyes looked curiously amused. She must be mistaken, Allison thought. Teresa couldn't be amused at this.

Teresa said, "You needn't take offense, darling. Surely you know how her personal habits distressed me even as a small child before I went to live in Vermont. But there is no Bohemianism in my house and I hope as Suzy grows older you will never tell her how her grandmother really was. I would like her to have an entirely different picture of her. You—you aren't like her at all."

"I don't bleach my hair."

Teresa smiled. "I'm sorry. I didn't mean to hurt your feelings when I spoke of her hair. Let's skip that now, shall we? What are you going to do?"

"I thought I'd take a business course."

"That's excellent. A very practical idea. I think we're going to get along fine. Of course, my way of living may seem a little exciting to you at first—but you'll conform."

"I'd like to pay for my own room and board."

Teresa's eyes narrowed. "If you pay for your keep you'll expect service and that's something I can't give you with only one maid in the house. Then, too, I wouldn't feel free to call upon you to help when necessary. No, I don't want anything. All I expect you to do is keep your room and look after your clothes—your own laundry, of course. I can't ask Annette to take on extra duties. There are times when Winnie and I are out the same evening—she likes to go to church and to the movies—and you'll be here with Suzy. Sometimes I'll have to be out of town. I'll feel better about going knowing you're in the house."

Was that why Teresa had asked her to come and live with her? Didn't Teresa altogether trust Miss Winstead?

When Annette announced dinner and they went in to the table where the silver and china gleamed under flickering amber candles, Allison wondered if Teresa would see her daughter any more tonight or if those 20 minutes were all she saw of her each day. She could not get that frightened, miserable little doll-face and the too thin arms and legs out of her mind. Surely at 3 Suzy was old enough to have dinner with her mother or have especially if Teresa were alone or had only a member of the family present.

Whether it was the propitious moment or not Allison said, "When I came today, Sam was here."

Teresa put down her fork. Somehow it slid off the plate and made a loud clatter.

"Has he been here again? He has no right to drop in when he feels like it! He isn't good for Suzy. After he leaves she's so excited she can't sleep. Something will have to be done about him."

"The Authority on Authorities"

NO SENSE TO SUCH BIDS

SO-CALLED "psychic" bidding, when there is no sound logic underlying it, can inject fireworks into the game, but is more likely to singe the user than the spectators. But if you have for a partner a player addicted to the indiscriminate use of such tactics, it will pay you to keep your eyes and ears open and do your utmost to protect the side from damage through his madness. There is no sense to some bids of that type, but they give the man across the table plenty of chance to use his thinking cap.

It is virtually an axiom of good bidding that, when you have to bid, you show one at the first opportunity so you can complete your distributional story the next time and thereby give your partner a choice of fits. There is no kind of hand which is more loaded with danger for a wild bid of a void suit.

If West had been smart enough to pass the 6-Diamonds instead of doubling, North might have accepted the due punishment for his sins. But the double drove him in desperation to trying 6-Spades. The only smart move of the auction was South's pass of that. North was lucky enough to take all the tricks except the spade 8. After East led the diamond 8, Lucky? Was he really? The success on this hand has cost him thousands of points for indulgence in similar monkeyshines since then.

Inside WASHINGTON

Washington Officialdom Doubts Taft Refuses to Capitalize Success of Save-Food Drive On Recent Auto Door Injury

Special to Central Press

WASHINGTON—The greatest danger to the success of the voluntary food-saving program is the underlying belief in official Washington and industry circles that it won't work.

Despite publicly-stated faith in the program by President Truman and food committee Chairman Charles Luckman, congressmen, agriculture experts and even some editorial writers are convinced that the United States will not voluntarily ration itself in peacetime and that the program is foredoomed to failure.

Already, some politicians and spokesmen for some labor and industrial labor organizations are calling for a re-imposition of compulsory rationing legislation.

Persons close to the voluntary program are fearful that pessimism concerning the degree of co-operation may result in interested groups taking the view that they won't co-operate fully as long as other groups apparently won't. The net result may well be public disregard for the program, and its collapse.

On top of that, high government officials realize that compulsory rationing and price controls are impractical in the present crisis. Reason—it would take too long to get them in action and the European food dilemma will be won or lost by then.

Charles Luckman

and the European food dilemma will be won or lost by then.

● POLITICS AND BOB TAFT—Senator Robert A. Taft, Ohio's GOP presidential hopeful, firmly refused to overplay on personality to win applause or delegates during his recent western speaking trip. Taft, generally regarded as a colorless speaker, stuck to the form he uses when debating on the Senate floor. Much of the time while making a formal address, the senator had one or both hands in his pants pockets. His gestures were few and became less when one swinging hand almost knocked over a radio microphone placed too close to him.

Even the correspondents gaped when they saw Taft, much as he does during Senate debate, toy with a pencil while addressing his audiences. Some thought there might be a change when Taft hurt his left hand in Seattle and appeared with it neatly bandaged.

But although the hand was jammed in an automobile door during the confusion of a picket demonstration and might have elicited some sympathy from his audiences, Taft kept it in his pocket most of the time he was speaking. Gesture with the bandaged hand? "If he only would," groaned one of his advisers.

● ANTI-COMMY AFFIDAVIT MAN—Chairman Paul Herzog is the man responsible for the NLRB's decision that AFL-CIO officers did not have to file non-communist affidavits under the Taft-Hartley law.

In its decision, the board voted four-to-one to overrule its general counsel, Robert Denham, who held that the AFL-CIO bigwigs were covered by the filing requirement.

The story going around Washington is that before Denham issued his original ruling, he conferred with some members of the NLRB and they agreed with his position.

It seems, however, that Herzog was ill and absent at the time Denham first discussed the ruling. After he returned to duty, he took issue with the general counsel's position and is given credit for influencing three other NLRB members to side with him.

Herzog's biggest salesmanship job apparently was done on James J. Reynolds, Jr. generally regarded as the "conservative" side of the board along with J. Copeland Gray, former Buffalo, N. Y., industrialist, who stuck by Denham.

Herzog, John M. Houston and former Democratic Senator Abe Murdock of Utah, are expected to continue to vote solidly together as the board's majority.

Halloween Party Is Held With "Kids" Object Of Costumes

Harper Bible Class members of the First Evangelical United Brethren church gathered Friday evening in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Bennington, South Court street, for a program and Halloween party. Mr. and Mrs. Hillis Hall were assisting hostesses.

Mrs. Charles Kirkpatrick based the devotional period on the topic "Faith". Mrs. Clarence Radcliff read a poem "Autumn Days". The group joined to sing "My Faith Looks Up To Thee" and "Faith Of Our Fathers". The Scripture lesson was read by Tom Conrad. Prayer was offered by the Rev. Carl L. Wilson. Mrs. Kirkpatrick closed the devotional period by reading an article on "Faith" by John Greenleaf Whittier.

Routine business was dispensed with by Clarence Radcliff, president, during a brief business session.

The social hours were under the direction of Mr. and Mrs. Ray Johnson. In conjunction with the approaching Halloween season each member was requested to come to the party dressed as a "kid". Prizes for the most typical "boy" and "girl" costume were awarded. Mrs. Radcliff and Mrs. Robert Dick were judged the outstanding "girls". The "boys" best costumes were those worn by Mr. Hall and Mr. Kirkpatrick.

Many contests and games pertaining to Halloween were enjoyed by the group. Patty Nau won the contest for pinning the tail on the cat. Teams were selected for a hunting contest. The team lead by Robert Dick won the spirited contest.

Halloween refreshments were served by the hosts to 30 members and guests at the conclusion of the outstanding social affair.

Double Feature At Cliftona

MERLE OBERON portrays an exciting adventuress loved by a romantic archeologist, played by George Brent, in "Temptation." Charles Korvin and Paul Lukas are also starred in the film, a drama of intrigue. Zane Grey's "Western Union," featuring Randolph Scott completes the double feature program Sunday and Monday at the Cliftona theatre.

Yvonne England Honored At Party

Yvonne England, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lyman England was guest of honor at a party Friday noon in the home of her parents on Logan street. The affair marked the seventh birthday anniversary of the young honored guest.

Janet Bennett, Nancy McClaren, Virginia Anderson and Carolyn Callihan were invited for dinner with Yvonne at the noon hour. Each place at the dining-room table was marked with miniature pumpkin favors. A large chocolate cake topped with seven white candles centered the table. A few games were enjoyed by the group before they returned to school. "Buddy" England, small son of the hosts also attended the party.

Circleville's Annual Halloween Parade To Be Eerie Affair

$200 IN PRIZES WILL BE GIVEN OUT BY WITCHES

Red Men Tribes To March With Hobgoblins In Big Pageant

Annual Halloween parade in Circleville the night of October 31 will be an eerie affair in which the roving goblins and broomstick-riding witches will distribute approximately $200 in cash prizes to the winning masqueraders.

Plans for the event were announced Saturday by officials of the sponsoring organization, the Circleville Chamber of Commerce. Don C. Henkle is chairman of the committee in charge.

A Halloween poster contest will be conducted in conjunction with the parade.

George Fishpaw will be the parade marshal. The procession will form at 7 p. m. at South Court and Mound streets, and the parade will move promptly at 7:30 o'clock. The Circleville lodge of Red Men has invited members of 12 neighboring tribes to participate with them in the Circleville parade.

The line of march will be Court street north to the Ted Lewis Park where the judging will take place and the prizes will be awarded. Following this the Red Men will present their lodge ritual with the members in full regalia. Mr. Henkle said the Chamber of Commerce has donated $200 to be issued as awards for the best Halloween costumes and for preparation and display of the best Halloween posters.

OTHER members of the Halloween committee are R. C. Kiefer, Arthur Marr, James L. Yost, Milton Kellstadt, George Griffith, Frank Susa, George Fishpaw and Vernon Hawkes. Several bands will appear in the parade.

The poster contest is open to all boys and girls enrolled in elementary grades one through six in the Circleville trading area.

The contest rules stipulate that each poster must be either cut, pasted or painted—by the contestant—and at the bottom must appear the name, school grade, age, and name of the school of such contestant. Oct. 28 is the deadline for presenting the posters at the Griffith and Martin store on West Main street. George Griffith is chairman of the poster contest committee. Posters entered in the competition will be placed on display in store windows. The judging will take place Nov. 1. Mr. Marr is chairman of the judging.

Costume prizes for the parade:

Boys and girls up to six years—First $5, second $3, third $2, fourth $1, fifth 50 cents, sixth 50 cents.

Boys and girls 6 to 10 years—First $5, second $3, third $2, fourth $1, fifth 50 cents, sixth 50 cents.

Playing At Grand

BETTY GRABLE plays the title role in the technicolor story-with-music, "Mother Wore Tights," heralded as the screen's first film to unfold the true, intimate story of the people who make show business. The picture opens Sunday at the Grand theatre.

THESE DAYS

He knows that this country, in another war, would be at the mercy of the U. E., which could cripple us by striking General Electric, Westinghouse, Allis-Chalmers, Radio Corporation of America and similar organizations which manufacture essential commodities of war. He knows that Harry Bridges and Mike Quill could so tie up our transportation system that this country could not move men and supplies efficiently. He knows that radio operators and telegraphers could strike in the interest of a foreign foe. He knows that the valiant fight that Walter Reuther is making to keep the Communists out of control of our automobile, tractor and tank manufacturing is a nip-and-tuck situation and that if he should fail, our wonderful productive record in the last war might not be paralleled in the next one.

Can this country continue to risk its future? All that the Taft-Hartley Law demands is a statement of fact. If a labor leader says that he is not a Communist and he proves to be one, he is open to a charge of perjury which is a punishable offense. That is a mild enough protective in the face of what we have seen Stalin's agents do in every country of Europe and Asia.

It is said that simple goiter is more prevalent in women than in men.

DEATH

RIDES WITH THE RECKLESS

One-fourth of all fatal accidents on the highways of our country and in the streets of our cities and towns are caused by speed. Reckless drivers—disregarding all the laws of traffic safety and common sense, urging onward automobiles catapulted by the power of a hundred horses—these were the prime killers in 1946.

Last year 33,500 persons—drivers, riders and pedestrians—died in automobile accidents. That's about one death every fifteen minutes. More than a million were injured, many of them maimed or crippled for life. This year the toll will be even greater, approaching an all-time high of 40,000 deaths—unless you, Mr. and Mrs. Driver, call off this daily rendezvous with Death.

You can do your part to help stop this highway slaughter by personally striving for an accident-free record. Drive carefully at all times. Be considerate of other drivers and pedestrians. Gauge your speed to highway conditions and traffic requirements.

Don't let Death hang over your shoulder and point the way to the morgue. Drive safely—and live!

Red Men Tribes To March With Hobgoblins In Big Pageant

Playing At Grand

BETTY GRABLE plays the title role in the technicolor story-with-music, "Mother Wore Tights," heralded as the screen's first film to unfold the true, intimate story of the people who make show business. The picture opens Sunday at the Grand theatre.

Annual Halloween parade in Circleville the night of October 31 will be an eerie affair in which the roving goblins and broomstick-riding witches will distribute approximately $200 in cash prizes to the winning masqueraders.

Plans for the event were announced Saturday by officials of the sponsoring organization, the Circleville Chamber of Commerce. Don C. Henkle is chairman of the committee in charge.

A Halloween poster contest will be conducted in conjunction with the parade.

George Fishpaw will be the parade marshal. The procession will form at 7 p. m. at South Court and Mound streets, and the parade will move promptly at 7:30 o'clock. The Circleville lodge of Red Men has invited members of 12 neighboring tribes to participate with them in the Circleville parade.

The line of march will be Court street north to the Ted Lewis Park where the judging will take place and the prizes will be awarded. Following this the Red Men will present their lodge ritual with the members in full regalia. Mr. Henkle said the Chamber of Commerce has donated $200 to be issued as awards for the best Halloween costumes and for preparation and display of the best Halloween posters.

OTHER members of the Halloween committee are R. C. Kiefer, Arthur Marr, James L. Yost, Milton Kellstadt, George Griffith, Frank Susa, George Fishpaw and Vernon Hawkes.

Several bands will appear in the parade.

The contest rules stipulate that each poster must be either cut, pasted or painted—by the contestant—and at the bottom must appear the name, school grade, age, and name of the school of such contestant. Oct. 28 is the deadline for presenting the posters at the Griffith and Martin store on West Main street. George Griffith is chairman of the poster contest committee.
